CLIFFORD BEATS YO TAMBIEN. amplighter Finishes Third in the Race at Chicago. Clifford, the three-year-old son of Bramble, a winner of five cup races in one year, Hawthorne Park, Chicago, in 2.09 3-4, which won the special $8,000 sweepstakes arranged for Clifford, Yo Tambien and Lamplighter. Second choice in the betting, Eugene Leigh's colt had enough friends to hurt the bookmakers. The spectators, who had dreamed of nothing but the horse who had finished third in the American Derby, swarmed over 'the track early in the day, and gravely pro-nounced it just made for the three-year-old. Others, who had won on Yo Tambien Saturday, when she made Lamplighter look like a selling-plater in a nine-furlong dash, figured that the mare had lost some of her ine-edged form by the race inthe mud, and quietly transferred their bets to Clifford. Poor Lamplighter, once the pride of Pierre Lorillard's stable and the idol of the board of control tracks, went begging for triends. Tarai and his skill were com-pletely echipsed by the excitement over saminy Doggett, his bright new colors and Chuord.

delay of eight minutes at the post, where to l'ambien, for the first time since her two-year-old form, acted badly and relused to break, Starter Chinn dropped the to the mare's love for being out in front, and he at once got the pace a half length ahead of Chinoru, who began almost immediately to force the mare. Tarai on Lamplighter was satisfied with last position, a when the mare snowed a length in front passing the stand, with Cinford racing easily two lengths benind, and Lampeasily two lengths benind, and Lamplighter hopelessly out of the contest, away back, and galioping hard. The chestnut daughter of Joe Hooker was still in front at the quarter pole, but she was not showing the same easy stride she had when Jockey Charley Thorpe used to pilot her ahead of the good fields as a three-year-old. Clifford was but two lengths away, with plenty of reserve. He carried his 113 pounds as if it had been but ninety. Clif-

From that point on it was Clifford's race. Some said that the mare lost her courage, but many others asserted as a fact that

At the three-quarter pole Clifford's lead was a good half length, with Yo Tambien twenty lengths in front of the troubled son of Spendthrift. The lead of Clifford was increased a length and a half at the mile. "Clifford will win easily," shouted one man as he huried his hat over the track. In the stretch Doggett made another effort, but the mare was raced off her feet, and gamely as she tried, Chris Smith's great filly faltered.

The finish was not impressive. Clifford won by fifteen lengths, with Yo Tambien twenty lengths ahead of Lamplighter.

The time, 2.09 3-4, is a quarter of a second better than Morello's in the Chicago Derby, but Yo Tambien has 2.09 1-4 to her credit over the same track. However, the fractional time shows the phenomenal pace for the Hawthorne track. It was: Quarter, 0.25 1-2; three-eighths, 0.38; half, 0.50 1-2; five-eighths, 1.03; three-quarters, 1.15 3-4; seven-eighths, 1.28 1-4; mile, 1.41 1-2; mile and a quarter, 2.09 3-4. filly faltered. quarter, 2.09 3-4

Before the big race the betting shed was Before the big race the betting shed was a scene of pandemonium. Yo Tamblen, despite her hard race of Saturday, ruled strong at 3 to 5, while the books stood a deluge on Clifford at 8 to 5. Lamplighter was played by "pikers" at 10 to 1.

"I'm satisfied that Lamplighter is not much better than a selling plater here on this track," said Mr. Walbaum after the race. "I'll take him right back to Guttenberg and race him."

Chicago Exposition Stockholders Will Receive $1,000,000.

A TOTAL OF 23,529,400 ADMISSIONS. The Expenditures Thirty and Receipts Thirteen Millions.

PROFITS FROM CONCESSIONS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.-With the grand total of 21,147,212 paid admissions the world's fair was officially closed last night. Though these figures represent the paid admissions during the time allotted by Congress in which the exposition should be kept open, yet it is calculated that at least 1,000,000 tickets will be purchased before the beautiful white city is dismantled and leveled to

When the fair closed Sunday night the total paid admissions up to that time were 21,269,639. When the receipts were counted last night the total was 21,147,212.

The total number of admissions on passes was 2,052,188, making a grand total of 23,-529,400. After the debt of the world's fair has been paid there will remain at least $1,000,000 and perhaps more to be distributed among the stockholders. Mr. Seebeger made this pleasant announcement yester-

Since its organization to yesterday morn-Since its organization to yesterday morning the exposition has paid out $30,558,849.01, or three times the amount the managers expected to spend when they commenced building the fair. The gate receipts during the exposition period proper were little over $10,000,000. To yesterday, $3,300,000 had been collected from concessionaires by Mr. Black-$10,000,000. To yesterday, $3,300,000 had been collected from concessionaires by Mr. Blackmar's department and nearly $700,000 were paid before he took hold. The returns from concessionaires was one of the big surprises of the fair. Nobody was reckless enough to predict that that sum would be realized. The Paris exposition got but $800,000 from that source, while the centennial managers, being better traders than the Frenchmen, got $1,200,000.

Gates Open Today. But the gates of the world's fair are not closed. They were officially closed last night at 11:30 o'clock, but they were open again this morning, and there will be the usual band music during the day and the illumination and playing of the fountains

This afternoon the executive committee of the board of directors will meet at Jack-son Park to determine how much longer and under what conditions the fair may be continued open. Their action will depend largely upon the state of the weather when the meeting is called, and the crowd in at-tendance about the grounds. If both are favorable, the exposition will doubtless be prolonged for a show period. Many of the directors favor such a course. There was an informal conference amone some of the leading directors yesterday in President Higinbotham's office, when it was decided to call the meeting for today. There were present Director General Davis, President Higinbotham, F. W. Peck, W. A. Waller, Andrew McNally, I. N. Camp, Adolph Nathan, J. W. Chalmers and A. H. Col. Davis did not favor trying to prolong any features as an exposition. He told the members plainly that if they intended to decline to act as director general. When he left the meeting those remaining were still convinced that visitors should be encouraged to come as long as the weather remains favorable. Last night some of the officials arranged building. On that occasion Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the board, will deliver her farewell address and a full length portrait of her, painted by Zorn, the Swedish artist, will be unveiled.

The Midway concessionaires are all at sea regarding their plans for the future. They almost all want to stay and do business, if the weather will permit and the people continue to come. Some of them have ness, it the weather will permit and the people continue to come. Some of them have been asked if they cared to retain the exposition cash register until the 15th of November. This would indicate that the exposition people are prepared to continue the Midway shows some time longer.

The police were told that Mathias' assailant was concealed behind a pile of bricks in the rear of the building. An officer advanced toward the man's hiding place and ordered him to come out. A pistol shot rang out and a bullet grazed the cheek of the policeman. The officer mounted another pile of bricks and opened cheek of the policeman. the ground.

Even after being disarmed the man fought desperately and the policemen had to use their clubs to overcome him. The hundreds of workmen employed in the building, as well as pedestrians from Broadway, rushed in and a cry was raised of "Lynch him." Somebody picked up a brick and struck the fellow over the head. The policemen were obliged to turn their attention to saving the man from the fury of the crowd.

A hurry call was sent in and in a few minutes an ambulance arrived from Chambers street hospital. Both victim and prisoner, were conveyed to the hospital. It was found that Mathias had been shot in the abdomen and was in great danger of dying. The prisoner said his name was Francis Bradley, a laborer, without a home. It was found that some of the officer's shots had been effective, for Bradley was wounded twice in the right forearm.

Bradley was first seen lounging around out saying a word, walked toward the center of the bands. A workman saw this strange proceeding, and called the attention of Mathias to the fact. The superintendent took a lighted lantern in his hand and went toward the opening and flung the rays of the lamp upon the man where he lay concealed and told him to come out. The answer was a shot. Mathias cried "I am shot," and staggered toward the center of the building, where he fell.

After being arrested Bradley made an incoherent statement about people being after him. He said he was a Grand Army man, which cannot be true, if the age he gave—thirty-one—be correct. He also said: "I had to shoot him; he was trying to shoot me. I lost my citizenship papers and was being hunted by a mob."

None of the workmen about the building know Bradley. He had never worked there nor been seen around until Sunday. The police believe he is undoubtedly insane and imagined he was being pursued. Others said that he acted like a drunken man or one that was badly affected by delirium tremens. His injuries are not very severe.

It Was an Outrageous One, but It Could Be Taken Out of the Landlord. From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Two southern planters, one from Alabama and the other from Louisiana, met one day in New Orleans after the war. One, the colonel, had been in the confederate army, but the other, the judge, from some physical disability, had remained at home, and had managed to save a small portion of his fortune from the wreck, enough to live on comfortably in his declining years, but the colonel had lost everything; in fact, was in straitened circumstances. The judge greeted his friend warmly, and insisted on the colonel's dining with him, which invitation the latter gladly accepted.

Accordingly, after partaking of a few drinks by way of appetizers at the bar in the St. Charles Hotel, they adjourned to a fashionable restaurant. After a preliminary mint julep or so the judge called for the bill of fare, and the waiter quickly compiled with his request, placing before that gentleman a mehu with a wine list attached, not printed, but written out in a very fine hand. attached, not printed, but written out in a very fine hand. The judge and his friend selected certain dishes, and gave a liberal order for wine with every course. The repast over, the judge and the colonel still tarried, discussing old times before the war, and disposing of bottle after bottle. At last, becoming a little confused in their ideas, they concluded to get a carriage and take a ride along the shell road to the old Spanish fort. The judge, before rising, called to the waiter for the bill. The latter, seeing no preparation for departure thought seeing no preparation for departure, thought he meant the bill of fare, which was ac-cordingly brought. ready for sea, the Detroit draws two feet more forward, it is announced, than she does aft. From the fact, as reported, that the vessel was designed to draw two feet more aft than forward, it is evident that the department miscalculated the draught of this fine ship by just four feet.

The trouble is that the armament is too heavy for the ships and can only be remedied by reducing the size of the guns.

heavy for the ships and can only be remedied by reducing the size of the guns.

Several of the best sea-going ships of the navy, including the Newark and San Francisco, were designed by the construction bureau. The English hull designed vessels, the Baltimore, Charleston and Philadelphia, are not deemed nearly so good craft in point of reagoing qualities as are the outand-out American craft.

The fact, however, remains, it is declared, that an error has been made in the designs of the Detroit and those of her two sisters.
